For Sale

Commercial Growing Operation – High Demand Produce

This well-established agricultural business operates under glasshouse conditions, specialising in the cultivation of premium-quality produce for approximately nine months of the year, with a complementary three-month growing period for a second lucrative produce. Situated in an ideal easily accessible leased location in North Auckland with optimal growing conditions, the business has built a strong reputation for producing high-yield, consistent crops, ensuring a steady supply of fresh produce to the markets in both the North Island and South Island.

The vendor has successfully streamlined its operations, ensuring high efficiency and consistent output. Daily on-site management is handled by an experienced husband and wife management team. They oversee the core day-to-day activities, ensuring smooth running of the glasshouse environment and coordinating with staff.

The vendors direct involvement is minimal, typically working about 10 hours per week onsite, and perhaps 10 hours a week from home on administration and sales. As there are managers in place, the Vendors role is predominantly focused on administrative tasks and managing sales, ensuring that the business continues to operate at a high level. A key feature of the business is the advanced computer system, which allows the vendor to monitor critical aspects of production remotely, on laptop or cell phone.

Our vendor is reluctantly offering the business for sale due to genuine health concerns, necessitating an urgent sale.

Asking Price: $750,000 plus GST if any
Includes plant, equipment and up to $100,000 stock
