Small Flooring Business, Big Reputation

After five years, the business has become a "One-Stop-Shop" specialising in building floors from the dirt upwards, restoring existing and installing recycled timber flooring and laying Hybrid Vinyl Planking for more modern renovations.

They have now established solid business to business trade connections with a range of Building and Renovation contractors. The owner will introduce the buyer to these contractors at the appropriate time.

This business is incredibly rewarding, self-motivating, ever-changing and can develop to as large or small as a new owner is prepared to drive it.

Word of mouth gained from Facebook posting has been incredulous and 80% responsible for new Homeowner enquiries.

It could suit someone who is looking for their own business or even a couple, perhaps where one has building experience. All works currently done by the business, do not require you to be a qualified builder, however any structural subfloor building required, is completed to the current building regulations.
